

NUFFIELD DEPARTMENT OF PRIMARY CARE
HEALTH SCIENCES

Young people & Alport Syndrome

Do you have Alport Syndrome? Are you aged 10-25?

Sharing your experiences could help others!

 healthtalk.org

www.healthtalk.org is a unique, award winning website run by a national charity. On the site you can read, watch, and listen to young people talking about their real-life experiences of health, illness and lifestyles. Interviews for the site are collected by University researchers.

We're looking for young people who can help us to produce a site, designed for young people about experiences of Alport Syndrome. If you would like to take part and are aged 10-25, our researcher, Melissa Stepney would visit you and ask you to talk about your experiences. You can choose whether we use a video, audio or text version of your interview.

For more information, call, or email Melissa Stepney
We will send you more information about the project (if you are under 16 we will send information for your parents as well.)
If you then decide you don't want to take part - no problem.

Please contact Melissa Stepney:
 melissa.stepney@phc.ox.ac.uk 01865 617867
or Tweet me: @Dr_Stepper

Health Experiences Research Group, Nuffield Department of Primary Care Health Sciences, University of Oxford, Gibson Building, Radcliffe Observatory Quarter, Woodstock Road, Oxford OX2 6GG.
www.phc.ox.ac.uk
Study approved by Berkshire Research Ethics Committee YHT generic flyer V3 July 2015 12/SC/0495

Research funded by:

a brighter future for people living with alport syndrome